A thousand reasons
to betray our word.
A thousand reasons
to ignore cries heard.
They have found and
given a thousand reasons,
to lie and steal.
To rape, molest and kill.
A thousand excuses to fornicate.
A million for a man to not carry his weight.

A hundred reasons to lie or murder,
but not one to exclaim the love of a father.

They have given a hundred reasons for suicide,
but not one to forever abide.

Science is just paganism with an excuse.
This is why it is necessary to refuse.

Not one gene to promote the family,
or to recognize the love of the valley, lily.
But it seems they've found a thousand for homosexuality.
