

the humanity
by Nishaun Smith

The problem with accepting gays into the church (as gays) is atheists and other pagans already like gay people. What good is Christianity if it has no laws, nothing to separate itself from the rest of the world? The dangerous thing in accepting the ways of the world is by doing so you put yourself into a position. After accepting gays into church you set yourself up for a fall because now when you ask an atheist to join your church they will tell you. Well, we already like gay people, why would we join your church to sin, we already know how to sin. Refusing to accept that sin is still sin is very detrimental to the Christian church. What good is Christianity if it can't solve the problems in marriages and families? What good is a Christian if he does not separate himself from the sins of the world? As a Christian it is your duty to preach against anyone who preaches against God and the human family. As Christians many of you stood by and watched as feminists stole mothers from children, we have seen the decay and devolution of the family system and the suffering these children have faced. Now once again Christians are asked, will you stand by and let lesbians AND homosexuals steal fatherhood from children. Is there no end to their suffering?
